Ruark odes Hemingway's Green Hills of Africa hands down. In this book we follow a man and his wife from New York's high life to the backwoods African bush. We discover what a buffalo really looks like, and how you feel when he looks at you! We discover fear, anxiety, restlessness, pride, triumph, and in the end respect and joy. A very highly recommended book. 2 von 2 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Classic-More details than Capstick, less gore-very good Von Ein Kunde Great book. First few chapters (setup) not that impressive, but the rest of the book every bit as good as I had hoped. Not a collection of misadventures, but rather an account of a single safari (9 weeks?!). Who has that kind of time? A good story written well. Don't let the slow start put you off. 2 von 2 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. terrifically written, great story. Von wishcamper@montana.com Ruark is rightfully called the master of outdoor writing. This is a fabulously written story of his first safari in Kenya and Tanganyika (now Tanzania). It is a must read for anyone who enjoys outdoor literature, hunting stories, or Africa.

Kurzbeschreibung The story of the author and his wife's two-month safari in East Africa in the 1950s. Ruark's philosophies are intertwined in the hunting stories to make unforgettable reading.
