Von Charles Ashbacher Auch die Person, verbringt sehr wenig Aufmerksamkeit auf die Nachricht, wei, dass China ist ein sehr mächtiges und wichtiges Land. Jedes Kind wchst in den USA braucht, um etwas ber China wissen, und dieses Buch stellt einige der grundlegenden Merkmale des Landes. Der junge Leser wird einige chinesische Wrter fr Dinge, die Sie regelmig Kinder begegnen, wie Vater, Mutter, Puppe und der Schule lernen. Ein wenig Geschichte vorgestellt, das ist schon ein Kunststck gegeben, dass das Land hat eine kontinuierliche Geschichte von ber 3.000 Jahren. Wichtige Feiertage und festlichen Zoll anche abgedeckt sind, sowie die groen Sport in China gespielt. Lessons in Bcher fr Kinder mssen kurz, aber sperrig zu sein im Hinblick auf die Informationen. Roman ist auf die Schaffung Werke dieser Art und in diesem Buch sie beweist es wieder einmal sehr geschickt. Dieses Buch wurde kostenlos zur berprfung

On "If You Were Me and Lived in...South Korea": "Roman has proven her skill at writing children's books with her Captain No Beard series, as well as with the other volumes in her cultural series. If you were me and lived in ...South Korea uses a technique of speaking directly to the child reading or listening, similar to Laura Numeroff's If You Give a...series. This strategy is well suited to a book about foreign cultures as it gives little imaginations a boost by helping children envision themselves growing up with customs and traditions different from the ones they're familiar with..." Peter Dabbene ForeWord s Clarion On "If You Were Me and Lived in...France": "It is the simplistic and positive way that Roman, a former social studies teacher, delivers the text, that makes this series appealing-the books are short and to the point and just what you want when you're introducing geography and culture to the youngest reading set." Bianca Schulz-The Children's Book review. "It is vital vital that we continue to embrace culture and learn about the history of our world neighbors. Carole P. Roman has developed a series of cultural books designed to help parents and educator take the first steps in engaging our children in a fun way of embracing other cultures." Storytellers
