KundenrezensionenHilfreichste Kundenrezensionen0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Mad Maddie MaxwellVon Alan RichardsThis book is scary. I thought it was for my daughter, but when I read it, I discovered it had lessons for me. What a terrific story and teaching tool.Any parent would benefit from having this wonderful book in their children's library. The art work is adorable and intriguing, but the story is compelling and stimulating. I hope other parents find this book as encouraging and comforting as I did.This is a great model for other teaching stories that can help parents teach important attitudes and behaviors to our children. Thank you Stacie.0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. My daughter loves this book. Von Ein Kunde I am the mother of a firecracker of a four year old who is just like the title character. Already she is talking about "saying sorry" like Mad Maddie. She repeats the frolic rhymes along with me as I read. And I don't even mind reading it again and again (and that's saying something!). Books with a moral don't have to be humdrum. The illustrations are endearing too. This book's a keeper.

Kurzbeschreibung Maddie stormed out of her room. Her jump rope was missing. She yelled at her brother and sisters, You took it! What really happened to the jump rope? Who will have to say sorry? And who will have to forgive? This is a Level One I Can Read! book, which means its perfect for children learning to sound out words and sentences. It aligns with guided reading level J and will be of interest to children Pre-K to 3rd grade. Kurzbeschreibung Maddie stormed out of her room. Her jump rope was missing. Dear readers, I can still remember being young and searching frantically for some lost toy. If it did not show up, I was quick to point the finger at anyone (but myself). I was CERTAIN there was some conspiracy to steal my toys! More often than not though, I discovered that no... my mom DIDN'T hide my roller skates. I had simply left them down the street at my friend's house. I grew up thinking I was unique in this 'blame game'... until I became a mommy myself! I can't tell you how many toy thefts I have been blamed for in my mothering career. ("No son, I didn't sneak off with your hot wheels and play with them while you were sleeping.") Mad Maddie is modeled after all the pint-sized owners of lost toys out there - including me and my own four children. I hope you enjoy about Maddie's journey and lesson as much as I enjoyed writing it! Blessings~ Stacie
