Liked this, but wish it was Kids Go EuropeVon Emi BevacquaReally liked this fun motivator for sightseeing in Paris with kids, especially the color printing. Would have rated it higher but it wasn't as inspiring as the tiny Kids Go Europe series we absolutely loved in Italy (Florence and Venice). I'll still give Mission London a chance, when we go there next time.0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Entertaining, innovative and educatingVon Helpful AdviceMission Paris written by Catherine Aragon and designed by Nada Orlic is a part of A Scavenger Hunt Adventure series the entertaining, innovative and educating series of books that help their readers to learn about particular city in a very special way.From the moment I saw the front cover of this book I knew this is something special I think the closest description would be this is the thinnest, yet greatest guide I would like to take with me on a trip and have great time.Though mainly written for the younger audience, Mission Paris would be also great read for the adults. In a very entertaining way this guide manages to present the best Paris can offer, all wrapped up in the game of scavenger hunt. Besides leading reader through the most known city sights, it will introduce you the city history, French language and many fascinating stories that even seasoned travelers some of them would hear for the very first time.As aforementioned, the whole guide is made like a game that you need to finish visiting all the city sights while doing some funny activities in process making your (next) visit to Paris something to remember for a long time.Overall, A Scavenger Hunt Adventure is something that cannot be recommended enough one has to see it from own eyes.I was given a copy of this book by the author for the purpose of unbiased review, while all the presented information is based on my impressions.

We took a family trip with two adults and one seven year old. I was worried that he would be bored looking at the museums and sights. This book made a huge, huge difference. ChinagrI love this book! My daughters (ages 7 and 9) are so excited to use it when we visit Paris. Terrific idea of having the kids earn a certain number of points for each landmark they find. DLS87This book helped make our trip to Paris with 6th graders fun and fulfilling. We weren't sure how our kids would take to going to all the museums and landmarksbut this book had us visiting many sites more than once. They were so excited to find each item in the book. CC in SFGreat for teenagers! I love these books! My kids are 12, 14 and 16 so I was afraid they might think they were "baby" books, but they are enjoying them. -Marilyn ThomasThe book rendered the city...accessible and understandable to our daughter. The book turned out to be equally fun for the adults. RS in SFKurzbeschreibung Planning to travel to Paris with kids?
