

(Ebook pdf) Where Angels Fear to Tread

Where Angels Fear to Tread

Von E. M. (Edward Morgan) Forster 1879-1970
*Download PDF | ePub | DOC | audiobook | ebooks

 Download

 Read Online

Produktinformation - Verkaufsrang: #1088583 in eBooks Veröffentlicht am: 2016-06-21 Erscheinungsdatum: 2015-10-28 File Name: B018PK0UXS | File size: 70.Mb

Von E. M. (Edward Morgan) Forster 1879-1970 : Where Angels Fear to Tread before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Where Angels Fear to Tread:

Kundenrezensionen Hilfreichste Kundenrezensionen 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Spannende Lektüre Von Marlene Sindt Dies ist der erste Roman von E.M. Forster welcher 1905 erschienen ist. Ich kann dieses Buch nur weiter empfehlen. Es liest sich auch im englischen sehr gut und man mag es kaum aus der Hand legen. 4 von 4 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Forster's first - and his best! Von Ein Kunde This is by far my favorite novel by Forster, and many rereadings have made it one of my favorite novels, period. In his first book, Forster shows a subtlety and lightness of touch which I, at least, feel that he lost as he got more self-consciously "philosophical" in later books like Howard's End and A Passage to India. He makes wonderful use of the Italian settings and of Italian art, bringing them to vivid life, undermining tourist clichés, and weaving them gracefully into his main themes. No other book I know balances romanticism and irony so perfectly. 4 von 4 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Tremendously lovely Von Zebra75 This is an outstanding and terrifyingly lovely story. All of Forster's novels are beautiful, but this one is especially chilling. Forster achieves what others have failed to show to their readers - what love can do and what society and rules forbid. If you would like to know about the outstanding influence of women even during the 19th century, read it. The women are the one who act and the men are the ones who need to cope with it. Read and you'll love it! Just like I did.

Kurzbeschreibung HardPress Classic Books Series Kurzbeschreibung HardPress Classic Books Series über den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende Edward Morgan Forster was born in London in 1879. A pacifist and conscientious objector during the First World War, he volunteered instead for the International Red Cross, which took him to Alexandria. During his lifetime he travelled through Europe, Egypt and India, wrote six novels, two volumes of short stories, two collections of essays, two biographies and a libretto for Britten's opera Billy Budd, declined a knighthood, was made a member of the Order of Merit, and died at the age of ninety-one. A Room with a View and Howards End are also published in the Penguin English Library.